

The #1 Decision-Making Platform

Transform your decision-making processes with unified reporting, analysis, planning, forecasting, and business modeling

In today's fast-paced, data-rich business environment, making fast, effective decisions requires perfect integration between interactive reporting, planning, forecasting, and advanced analytics - something which point solutions are unable to deliver.

Unifying Business Intelligence (BI), Predictive Analytics, and Enterprise Performance Management (EPM) functionality in a single platform, Board offers a unique approach to decision making, driving visibility and efficiency from strategy down to operational execution. Thanks to its drag-and-drop, no coding approach, Board enables the self-service creation and customization of analytical and planning solutions which perfectly fit business needs across every department.

One platform, multiple capabilities

Analyze

Explore your data, run effective analysis, build interactive dashboards, and create impactful reports.

Combine business user self-service with enterprise-wide data governance.

Simulate

Conduct in-depth business modeling and scenario management.

Understand the impact of your decisions on your business' bottom line.

Plan

Unify different planning processes in a single environment for a completely integrated business planning approach.

Infuse intelligence throughout the entire budgeting and planning cycle.

Predict

Embed advanced analytical and predictive capabilities into your company's processes.

Make it easier than ever for business users to produce powerful forecasts and insightful analyses to accelerate the decision-making process.

The benefits of an all-in-one approach

A holistic view of the company ensuring the most up-to-date, accurate information is always available, helping to break down data silos and improve performance business-wide.

Increased timeliness by removing the need for lengthy manual activities and overcoming the limits created by labor-intensive processes in Excel.

A robust link between hierarchical levels, departments, and people guaranteeing everyone is on the same page, informed from start to finish, and has a “go-to” place for dependable information.

User self-sufficiency through a drag-and-drop, coding-free interface, removing the reliance on IT and enabling your teams to find the insight they need, fast.

Automation of repetitive, manual tasks saving time, reducing effort, freeing up staff for more value-added activities, and removing the risk of manual errors.

Reduced TCO by replacing multiple standalone products, support packages, and consultancy fees with a single, unified approach.

Supporting leading organizations

Best-in-class companies recognize the important relationship between BI, Performance Management, and Predictive Analytics, and as a result Board's unified platform is utilized by leading organizations to drive efficient, effective decisions.

End-to-end driver-based planning

Coca-Cola uses Board as an end-to-end driver-based planning solution across its European Fast-Moving Consumer Goods supply chain. Thanks to Board, the group can analyze financial and operational data and consolidate information from 48 manufacturing plants, 85 warehouses, and everything related to distribution, right down to a single local vending machine.

A single point of truth for reporting and planning

ZF began its Board journey by transforming reporting and analytics processes across all departments and geographies, creating a worldwide Management Information System for access to, and analysis of, data. The project was then extended to strategic and operational processes, resulting in a single solution for global planning and analysis across business divisions in 230 offices and 40 countries.

Integrated business planning

Puma has used Board to transform a complex and scattered retail planning environment into an integrated business planning process across several departments and organizational levels. From target setting down to execution, more than 1000 employees selling into 120 countries now have increased visibility at every stage of sales, marketing, merchandise, and assortment planning.

Dezigual

RICOH

Ready to start enhancing your decisions?

Request a demonstration or find out more on our website:

www.board.com

board

